REFORM ELEMENT STRENGTHENED BY HENEY SHOOTING

More Determined Than Ever to Prosecute and Punish Grafters.

San Francisco Shocked by Court Room Crime.

DISCARDED JURYMAN'S DEED

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Probing showed that the bullet touched Heney's brain but lodged under his ear. Heney is resting easy and doctors are confident of his recovery. Heney's spirits are unbroken and he declared he will live to prosecute Reuf and Haas and his would-be slayers. The attack on Heney has given great impetus to the prosecution of alleged grafters. The reform element predicts the attack will result in the grafters' conviction whether Heney lives or dies.

District Attorney Langdon has issued an appeal to the public to keep order and promised that graft prosecutions will continue and he will immediately prosecute Haas.

Feeling against Haas and Reuf is so bitter that the jail is heavily guarded. Many lynching threats, but the authorities believe violence will be avoided. People generally believe the shooting was part of a political plot, although Haas denies having accomplices. A mass meeting tonight will consider the situation. Hiram Johnson and Mat Sullivan, leading attorneys, volunteered to continue the Reuf prosecution. Doctors decided to remove the bullet this afternoon. Blood poisoning is the greatest danger.

President Wires. Washington, Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt telegraphed Mrs. Heney and Randolph Speckles, who financed the graft prosecutions, expressing his horror and sympathy.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Francis J. Heney, a leading figure in the prosecution of municipal corruption in this city, was shot and seriously injured today by Morris Haas, a saloon keeper, who had been accepted as a juror in a previous trial and afterwards removed, it having been shown by the prosecution that he was an ex-convict, a fact not brought out in his examination as a venireman. In Superior Judge Lawler's court room during a recess in the trial of Abraham Reuf, on trial for a third time on a charge of bribery.

At 6 o'clock last night Heney was conscious. He said: "I will live to prosecute him."

Physicians in attendance on Heney expressed the opinion that he would live. It has been ascertained that the bullet which had entered the right cheek and lodged under the left ear and had not entered the brain as at first feared. Heney was taken to the hospital.

The shooting occurred at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Judge Lawler had a few minutes before declared a three minutes' recess of the court and the jury had left the room. The attorneys for the prosecution and the defense had returned to the room for a short conference with Judge Lawler in his chamber.

Heney was in his customary seat conversing with Chief Clerk McCabe, of the district attorney's office, when Haas came forward. He approached Heney and placing the revolver against his right cheek fired.

Instantly the court room was a scene of the greatest excitement. Some bystanders seized Haas and others hastened to the relief of Heney, who was caught as he fell forward, the blood streaming from his wound.

Bullet Located.

Medical aid was summoned and Heney was afterwards taken to the Central Emergency hospital, where it was ascertained that his wound was not necessarily fatal. The bullet had passed under the brain and was found to be under the left ear.

After Heney had been removed from the court room Judge Lawler called the court to order and had Haas placed in custody. When arrested Haas said that he shot Heney because he had ruined him. He is a married man and has four children. In a statement made to Police Captain Duke, he said:

"Haas' Statement. "Heney denounced me in public with my life and branded me as an ex-convict. It was an outrage. I am the wrong man. I do not care what becomes of me now. I have sacrificed myself, not for my own honor."

The Burley Association is Offered Thirteen Dollars For Its Crops of 1906 and 1907 by Tobacco Trust

Organization is Now Considering Proposition and Will Make Reply at Conference in Louisville Next Week.

Louisville, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The Burley Tobacco association has been offered $13 for the 1906 and 1907 crop of tobacco in the pool. The offer is now being considered by the association. Next week there will be a conference here and the decision will be known. The tobacco trust offers 22 cents for the crop of 1906, amounting to 12,000,000 pounds, and 16 cents for the 1907 crop of 60,000,000 pounds. The offer was made at the meeting between Clarence Lebus and R. K. Smith.

EXAMINATION HELD NEXT WEEK FOR MAIL CARRIER.

Next Wednesday the annual examination for selecting men eligible to serve as mail carriers will be held at the postoffice. Already there are 17 men who passed the examination and are ready to take a place when their term comes. Despite this fact there are ten applications in to take the examination.

Settling Raid Cases

Attorneys T. N. Hazell and Cecil Reed went to Gilbertsville this morning to meet representatives of the defendants in the three suits filed against them for the raid on Birmingham. The terms of the compromises were agreed upon Wednesday, but this morning the attorneys went to Gilbertsville to make the settlement.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW CONDITION OF RETAIL TRADE

Bank clearings.....$602,324

Better business was shown this week than last in the bank clearings, which may be attributed to the weather man. The chilling breezes was a stimulant for business, particularly to the clothing dealers, and the merchants dealing in heavy fabrics.

The change is a welcome one to the dealers, for the shelves have been groaning under the weight during the warm days. The weather has brought some farmers to the city, as the farm work is about over, and the farmer is making his purchases for the winter.

Christmas is about six weeks off, but already the merchants have prepared for the annual visit of Kris Kringle. The toys and fancy articles have not been displayed yet, but everything is ready to be moved on display. Thanksgiving Day will cause trade to pick up somewhat, particularly to the produce dealers and the grocers. Plenty of turkeys have been promised with the average prices going.

During the past week the lumber trade has picked up. No immediate cause is assigned, but several flats and dwellings are going up or will be under construction in a short time. Repair work has kept the carpenters from being idle altogether.

In the tobacco line the market has been quiet, although there has been some movement in the old pool. The weather is still unfavorable for the handling of the weed.

EFFORT MADE TO HAVE COUNCILMAN-ELECT PAT LALLY INSTALLED AT ONCE

Because the term of former Councilman David Flournoy, to which Councilman Cornelison was appointed when Mr. Flournoy resigned, expires January 1, Councilman Cornelison will hold until that time, instead of surrendering his place to the successful aspirant to the seat in that ward at the general election. When a candidate is elected to fill a vacancy he takes his seat as soon as he qualifies; but no one was nominated to fill out Flournoy's unexpired term. The office is in the Second ward and Pat Lally was elected councilman to succeed Flournoy. He could not be elected to two terms at once and the regular term does not begin until January 1.

C. B. LOWRY. Lexington papers speak of the loss the community has sustained in the death of C. B. Lowry, whose sisters reside here: The Herald says: "We have lost a friend; Kentucky has lost one of her ablest sons; the railroad, commercial and forestry interests of America have lost a man whose intellect, energy and experience could have been of infinite service, through the damnable fault of some employee or the infernal negligence of the officials of a railroad."

The Gazette says: "The tragic death of Mr. C. B. Lowry and Mr. Harvey Watterson have shocked the people of Kentucky. Mr. Lowry was well known in Lexington and respected by all who knew him. He had unusual ability and exceptional energy, and his death came at a time when he was about to reap the rewards of his enterprise and effort."

COUNTY SCHOOLS GIVEN NO MONEY; TEACHERS DRAW

Superintendent Billington, of the county schools, has received a letter from the state superintendent, stating that Prof. R. N. Roark, president of the Eastern Normal college, would be sent here December 3 to make two addresses in the county in the interest of education. The state superintendent suggested that Professor Roark speak at Lone Oak in the evening and in the city at night. Mr. Billington stated this morning that before the dates were definitely announced he would confer with Superintendent Carnagey, of the city schools, and if the noted instructor's services were not needed in the city both dates would be filled in the county. The county superintendent has planned to have local speakers added to the program and make the occasion an educational rally.

Besides the appointments for Professor Roark in McCracken county dates have been arranged for him and other noted educators to speak in every section of Kentucky during the first week in December, the expenses of the campaign being borne by a philanthropist interested in educational work whose name is withheld.

No Money Comes. Although the money to pay the county teachers has not been received by the superintendent, an arrangement was made with the Globe Bank and Trust company to cash the teachers' checks for the quarter's pay that is due today. The teachers' money was received promptly last time, but Treasurer Farley was forced to defer the payment of other bills which were necessarily paid afterward, and at this time there are no funds available for them. Treasurer Farley sent a letter to all county superintendents informing them of the depleted condition of the treasury, promising to forward the money at the very first opportunity.

Three Indicted. Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 14.—The grand jury of Davidson county this afternoon about 2 o'clock, returned an indictment against Col. Duncan B. Cooper, Robin Cooper and ex-Sheriff John D. Sharp, charging them jointly with the murder of ex-Senator E. W. Carmack. Mr. Sharp is also charged with being accessory before the fact.

However, yesterday Democratic politicians appeared before the election commissioners, who had already issued a certificate to Mr. Lally for the full term, commencing January 1, and declared that voters in the court house precincts had marked on the Australian ballots at Lally's name, "short term," something to which the officer of the election did not certify.

W. A. Berry represented the petitioners. No action was taken. The unexpired term of David Flournoy and the succeeding term constitute two separate offices or else one man's election to both of them at the same time would be an election for a term longer than the law provides.

ONE HELD AND TWO DISMISSED FROM ROBBERY CHARGE

Sensational Hold-Up of Negro on Freight Train Heard by Magistrate.

Victim's Identification is Not Sustained.

LAWS PRODUCES HIS ALIBI

Most of the blame for the holdup and robbery of John Smith, colored, on a freight train near Krebs on November 5 was placed on two unknown alleged special agents of the railroad yesterday afternoon when the case was tried before Magistrate J. J. Biech. James York, the negro brakeman, was held over to the grand jury on a charge of robbery and malicious shooting, and John Sweeney, the flagman, and George Laws was dismissed.

John Smith said he recognized Laws, Sweeney and York as the men who robbed him of half a gallon of whisky and $16 in money, and then told him to jump off the train, re-enforcing their demands with pistols. One bullet struck a book in Smith's pocket. R. L. Carter, marshal of Fulton, and Ed Ghoulson, the railroad watchman at Fulton, told of arresting Sweeney and York at Fulton. York was drunk and Sweeney was drinking, the officers testified.

Laws was introduced and swore he was not out that night, and had witnesses to corroborate his story, so he was dismissed. Sweeney denied the charge and he was also dismissed. York denied robbing or shooting Smith, but Magistrate Biech held him over.

ALL THEIR DUCKS GOT AWAY FROM TWO HUNTERS.

It was an expensive hunt for John Davis and Engineer William Burch yesterday afternoon when they left the wharf for a trip up the Ohio river on a duck hunt. The nimrods were near Princeton and shot one duck, but it got away from them. After two hours' tramping through the woods the hunters returned to their boat and started to return, but the engine refused to work. Then the boat had to be towed back and the hunters had to foot the bill without a duck as the result of their hunt. They told their friends that they shot 75 ducks, but all of them got away.

Alexis Dies

Paris, Nov. 14.—Grand Duke Alexis, uncle of the Russian czar, died today.

KAISER OPPOSED TO WHOLE NATION IN HIS ATTITUDE

Berlin, Nov. 14.—A crisis in German affairs is imminent. The kaiser is determined to resist the reichstag's demands to restrain his political activity and insists the reichstag is powerless to advise him. The emperor's stand is opposed to the whole nation and a climax will be reached where the nation or the ruler must back down. Buelow will interview the kaiser Monday and is expected to resign. The federal council, the highest body in the empire, also is demanding guarantees that the kaiser will restrain his activity, which complicates the situation.

Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday with light rain or snow flurries except portion, not much change in temperature. Highest temperature yesterday, 50; lowest today, 28.

It is Officially Announced That Chinese Emperor is Dead--None Know Outside Palace When Died

Story of Weakling Who Sat Upon Throne of Manchus But Did Not Rule--Waiting to Establish New Regime.

Peking, Nov. 14.—It is officially announced that the emperor is dead. It is believed to have occurred Tuesday night, but this is not confirmed.

The Dead Emperor. Kuang Hsu, Kwangsu, succeeded to the throne in 1875 upon the death of Tung Ching.

He became of age and assumed nominal charge of the government in March, 1887. Two years later the emperor married the niece of the dowager empress.

Dowager Empress Ruled. Nine years then passed without change of importance concerning him or his policy as ruler. In 1898, after the seizure of Kiao-Chow by Germany, he threatened to abdicate if not given full power. The dowager empress made a pretense of turning over the government to him and four he was and near as he ever has been to being the actual ruler of his empire. During this period a number of reform edicts were issued from the palace and it was evident that plans were under way for the westernizing of both the government and court. In September of 1898 the dowager empress decided to end his activity. She suddenly confronted the emperor, denounced him, took from him the seal of state and put him under guard.

The emperor's reform friends were pursued with fury by the dowager empress, who executed six of them in Peking September 23, January 29, 1899, the emperor was forced to sign a decree announcing his own abdication and he was kept a prisoner by the dowager empress two years. It was believed that he had been killed. The powers made representation on the subject of his health which resulted in his being examined by a French physician attached to the foreign legation.

Emperor Took a Hand. Nothing was then heard of the emperor until the "boxer" uprising and the siege of the foreign legations at Peking. He is credited with having interfered with the dowager empress to try and prevent the carrying out of the declaration "to fight all foreign nations on the ground of war against all countries which would make peace an impossibility in the future."

On the day of the relief of the legation, April 15, the emperor fled with the rest of the court to Sian-Pu. He returned to Peking with the court January 7, 1907.

Broke the Furniture. Kuang-Hsu's court duties were distinctly perfunctory and routine. They consisted of appearing at all formal audiences to natives and foreigners, at the sittings of the grand council and at certain specified religious functions. In the throne room he sat on a stool or chair beside the throne chair of the dowager empress and papers were passed to him after being inspected by the dowager empress. It was related that on one occasion the presence of the emperor bored the dowager empress and she, in a temper, called to an attendant "take that away" referring to the emperor. His majesty overheard this characterization and when he reached his room began smashing the bric-a-brac in his rage.

John D. Witness. New York, Nov. 14.—John D. Rockefeller was summoned as a witness of the government in the suit to dissolve the Standard Oil. He is expected to appear next week.

De Sagan Troubles. Rome, Nov. 14.—It is reported that Princess Sagan, formerly Anna Gould, is ready to leave the prince. Friends say Anna twice prepared divorce papers but was induced by the family to withhold filing.

Prizing Contracts. The executive committee for the Planters' Protective association in McCracken county have let contracts to C. R. Hall, Graham & Veal and M. M. Tucker to prize tobacco next year. Jake Sanderson has also applied for a contract which will doubtless be granted. There were only two prizes in the county last year.

One hundred and sixty hogheads of association tobacco were sold during this week at the Paducah sale room, the prices ranging from 7 to 11 cents. All Paducah brokers were represented in the purchases.

CUBAN ELECTION PROGRESSES AND VOTING IS HEAVY

Havana, Nov. 14.—Fair weather prevails for the national election. Voting is heavy and government officials predict the election of General Menocal, conservative, although General Gomez, liberal, is claiming the election. Few out-breaks are reported, although troops were sent to Cienfuegos, where Colonel Vileta, conservative, last night killed Eduardo Diaz, a liberal.

JAP SAYS IT IS WAR. New York, Nov. 14.—Hamp-ton's Broadway magazine prints an interview of Richard Barry, war correspondent with Viscount Torio, one of the mikado's closest advisers, predicting war between Japan and America. He says a conflict is inevitable and may last a century. The oriental prophesies ultimate Japanese victory. Torio says Oriental nations are all part of one family, and will stand together. Four times they have repulsed occidental invasions and will do so again. He predicts eventually the Japanese will drive Americans from the Philippines, the British from India, the French from Indo-China and the Germans from Kiaochow.

LOCAL LOOSE LEAF TOBACCO MARKET GAINS PRESTIGE

As a loose leaf tobacco market Paducah may be on the verge of regaining her former prestige. The first step is the establishment of a loose leaf house by Mr. C. W. Bohmer, of Lexington, who after three trips to the city, has leased the Riglesberger mill property, 1320 South Third street. Mr. Bohmer left the city last night after the lease had been closed, and it is understood that he will open for business as soon as the weather will permit the weed being handled.

The establishment of a loose leaf house is welcomed by business people, as it will mean that money will be scattered to them, for it will draw much more tobacco from the western district. Instead of pricing his tobacco, the farmer will bring a load to the city and sell it, receiving the money the same day he makes the sale.

Fifteen years ago Paducah had about nine loose leaf tobacco houses, but the establishment of the pricing houses in the country caused them, one by one to close business until for several years there has not been a loose leaf tobacco warehouse. The loose leaf warehouses are seeking locations in larger cities, where ample protection is afforded from night riders, and it is stated that several more houses of similar nature may be opened. During the threatened night rider invasions Paducah was guarded closely.

Mr. Bohmer is a responsible tobacco man of Lexington, and he will be welcomed into Paducah by the business men. In the burley district there was a short crop this year, and this is attributed one reason why the house was located in the western part of the state.

W. M. Shaw Comes Here. Mr. W. M. Shaw, a tobacco re-handler, who has his headquarters in Hopkinsville, has removed to Paducah, which will be his headquarters. Mr. Shaw will remove his family to Paducah also.

John D. Witness

New York, Nov. 14.—John D. Rockefeller was summoned as a witness of the government in the suit to dissolve the Standard Oil. He is expected to appear next week.

BROADWAY FAILS TO GET MEMPHIS CONFERENCE 1909

Greenfield, Tenn., Wins Honor of Entertaining Methodist Gathering.

Day's Proceedings Held at Covington, Tenn.

SESSION ABOUT CONCLUDED

Covington, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Broadway church, of Paducah, failed to win the fight for the honor of entertaining the Memphis conference next year. Greenfield, Tenn., made a successful bid last evening.

The sermon preached yesterday afternoon by the Rev. G. T. Sullivan was one of the best heard at the conference.

During the discussion of the Carmack resolutions, Bishop Hoss said: With reference to Senator Carmack, Bishop Hoss addressed the conference and spoke of his close and intimate relations with Senator Carmack, whom he lauded in the highest terms. He said he talked with him a short time before his tragic death, and spoke of his serenity of mind even under his recent defeat. Bishop Hoss said in substance that the editorials which are alleged to have been the cause of Senator Carmack's murder in no sense justified such a crime; that if they did, then his (the bishop's) murder would be justified. He said a negro plowing behind a horse in the Mississippi bottom was as much entitled to the protection of the law as to his life and liberty as the highest in the land. He said the conference as a body had a right to express themselves. He denounced in the strongest terms the commission of deeds actuated by private revenge.

Bishop Hoss declared that Senator Carmack was not slain on account of what he had said, but because of fear of what he might have said in the future. He spoke of the majesty of the law and of the absolute necessity for its rigid enforcement, as was evidenced by the prevalence of lawlessness in the country.

The conference adopted strong resolutions in favor of state-wide prohibition in Tennessee and urgently call on the Tennessee legislature to extend the Pendleton law or enact stronger other legislation as will drive the liquor traffic from the state and pledge the members of the conference individually and collectively, by voice and vote, to use every legitimate means to secure that end.

The resolutions urge the Kentucky legislature to extend the county unit law to cities of all classes and thus drive the liquor traffic out of the state from the municipal breast-works, behind which it hides, and thus "let the people rule."

The Anti-Saloon League and W. C. T. U. are warmly commended and all preachers are urged to preach a strong temperance sermon at least once a year.

Cabinet Change

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Victor H. Metcalf tendered his resignation to the president to take effect December 1, on account of ill health. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Truman Newberry will be named as Mr. Metcalf's successor.

CANDIDATES ARE SEEKING OFFICE AT CITY'S HAND

Already the councilmen and aldermen have been busy listening to the appeals of candidates for the various city offices that will be filled by the two boards next month. For the position of license inspector it is conceded generally that R. B. Hicks, the incumbent, has a walkover as the Democratic officials have pushed back all other aspirants. Marketmaster is foregone with the following Democratic candidates: R. M. Miles, Albert Senner, Don Martin and C. E. Gridley. It is understood that some of the candidates for marketmaster would be willing to accept the city weigher's job, and Billy Orr and Al Townsend are candidates. A Franko will be a candidate for sewer inspector, although it is understood that Jack Coulson may be an applicant. Dr. W. J. Bass is mentioned as the state man for city physician, although it is said that Dr. Criss and Dr. Kidd will be applicants. For sanitary officer John Gaither is the only Democratic candidate spoken of.

Tan Shoes Stylish.

Tan shoes will be stylish this season. Not only in the smooth calf skin, however, unless one cannot afford the oze of suede.

But with costumes of any color, brown footwear will be correct, except where a one-time color scheme is preferred. In which case black shoes will be best with black frocks, even though the latter be not mourning.

It cannot be stated too positively that only the plainest kind of shoes are good form for the street. Those with patent leather vamps and white or tan tops are not correct, unless the upper portion matches the frock. Such footwear is correct for carriage use or in the house, if conditions are such as to make boots necessary.

A woman who likes striking footwear may console herself with tan spats. These may be put on with black calf pumps, but only a person with small feet should attempt them, for they apparently increase the effect of the size of the feet. Black cloth spats are not unbecoming, and may be used instead of the kid ones when uppers less warm are wanted. Indoors the spats or gaiters are removed, to show the pumps and thin, plain stockings.

Patent leather is always pretty, becoming and dressy, and it can be worn in the morning. For that time, in the street, however, it must be of the heavier quality in the "varnished" types.

The knell of open-work hosiery has been sounded, and only for the house can they be worn. For out of doors silk stockings should be chosen, but they must be plain. Lisle or thin cotton are also excellent for street use. Indoors colored hosiery may be worn with white pumps or with black ones.

TOBACCO DEAL NOT COMPLETED

Burley Association and American Fail to Agree.

Nothing Given Out As to Why Negotiations Failed or When Resumed.

INVOLVED SALE OF BURLEY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Representatives of the American Tobacco company and the Burley Tobacco society, which holds some 60,000,000 pounds of tobacco, pooled by the growers of the burley district, held a meeting at the Louisville hotel.

With the representatives of the biggest tobacco buyer and the biggest tobacco seller in the world in conference, it was hoped that a deal would result whereby the American Tobacco company would take the bulk of the holdings of the Burley society and thus turn a golden flood on Kentucky.

However, the meeting was without result, and it now looks as though there was never any special reason to believe that a deal would follow. It seems to have been a rather informal affair.

The meeting began at 1 o'clock and ended at 2:45. When it was over Attorney A. J. Carroll, who was present with Mr. R. K. Smith, of the American Tobacco company, said that no agreement had been reached. It was also said that the negotiations did not progress materially and they did not reach the discussion of price even.

No date was fixed for another meeting though it is probable that the same parties will meet again in a few days.

Besides Mr. Smith, Mr. John Middleton and H. K. Walker were present for the American Tobacco company. A number of directors of the Burley society were present, beside President Lebus.

The point at issue is the same old question of price, and the negotiations appear to be a renewal of the negotiations of last winter, when it was reported that Mr. Smith had bought the pooled tobacco from the association.

Growers Want Money.

The Burley society is said to have about sixty million pounds of tobacco held in trust in their warehouses for the farmers who are members of the organization. The tobacco has been tied up for a long time and the owners have become anxious for their money.

It is said today that the American company is willing to take 60 per cent. of the pooled holdings. If they take it over the price it is apt to be about 15 cents and the amount of money involved in the transaction more than $6,000,000.

News of Theatres

Mr. Barney Gilmore.

Barney Gilmore, the young Irish actor, who comes to the Kentucky Tuesday, November 17, with "Kidnapped in New York," is an honorary member of the Life Guards of Atlantic City, N. J. This association is a paid force of life-savers who patrol the beaches of the famous watering place and keep a wary eye upon the bathers who flock to the water in hundreds of thousands. Mr. Gilmore was made an honorary member for his work on two occasions in assisting the guards in rescuing stricken bathers. There are but two of these members of such standing, the other being George Beban, the well-known comedian.

Al. G. Field.

Al. G. Field signaled the opening of the 23rd annual tour of his greater minstrels by purchasing Blenville, a fine old country place twelve miles north of Columbus, O., situated on the Oentangy river. It is a noted stock and grain farm with commodious buildings, including a bungalow on the banks of the river, where bass fishing is good. There is a game preserve covering many acres, a maple orchard of two hundred trees and many other attractive features.

Mr. Field will make it his summer home and when his minstrel days are over, his permanent home. He will engage extensively in the breeding of fine stock. A car load of Kentucky horses will reach the farm early in September, and a herd of high grade sheep has been purchased as the beginning of the stocking of the farm.

When it became known he had bought the farm, his many friends were surprised. Mr. Field explained it was the dream of his life to live on a farm in the country.

Mr. Field is a director of the Columbus Casualty company, and insurance concern. He is chairman of the executive committee and has charge of the advertising material, or rather the designing of the same, which accounts for the beauty and effectiveness of the work.

Director of a bank, director of an insurance company, proprietor of a stock and agricultural farm, manager of a big minstrel show, "acting out" on the stage, he certainly will have to go some to keep his end up.

FOOD IN STOMACH BECOMES TAINTED

This Harmless Anti-Ferment and Digestive Gives Relief.

You haven't Catarrh of the Stomach, or Nervousness, or Gastritis, or Cancer, etc. Prove this by taking Pape's Diapensin after your very next meal. Convince yourself within five minutes that your actual disease was sour, acid Stomach—Food fermentation—that every bite you ate turned to Stomach gas, Stomach poison and Acid, which makes you feel sick and miserable, producing such symptoms as pain in the pit of the stomach, Difficulty in breathing after a meal, Headaches, Belching, Heartburn, Nauseous breath, Water brash, Bloating, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach and many other bad feelings.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause, of your misery. If the Stomach is sour, your food becomes tainted, and that's why you have these stomach disorders.

Ask your pharmacist to show you a case of Pape's Diapensin, which costs only 50 cents. Read what this effective Stomach and Digestive treatment contains, and how absolutely harmless it must be; how it does for the Stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the skin, absolutely removing every corrupting or tainting element, and will digest all the food you can eat.

Go to your drugist and get some Diapensin now, then eat anything you want at your next meal, and you will not suffer from Indigestion or Stomach trouble. Each bite of food will taste good, and, besides, you will not need liver regulators to keep your intestines and Stomach clean and fresh.

Now and forever rid yourself of the misery of Indigestion and Stomach trouble. Make your meals a pleasure by going to the table with a healthy appetite.

STATE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE REPORTS.

Stock Water Scarc and Wheat Sowing Delayed By Drouth—Late Corn Damaged.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 14.—M. C. Rankin, commissioner of agriculture, reports:

The long continued drouth has extended through the greater part of October and was slightly broken by rains in several portions of the state.

Stock water is very scarce and is being hauled for miles. Cattle and live stock have suffered for water.

The drouth has been almost unprecedented and has caused a severe loss to the farmers.

Wheat sowing has been greatly delayed because the ground has been so hard and dry.

Rye sowing has been delayed from the same cause and will be very late. Corn has all been cut and the early corn is of good quality and good yield, but late corn was greatly damaged by the dry weather. The price is very high and prospects are for still higher prices.

Burley tobacco shows a very much decreased acreage. Quality not good, very little damage by frost.

Dark tobacco shows somewhat of an increased acreage over 1907 crop. Quality good and housed without any damage from rain or frost.

Grasses have been injured by the severe drouth. Some reports show grasses burned up completely. It will require plenty of rain and favorable weather to overcome damages which the grasses have suffered.

Alfalfa has withstood the dry weather better than all other grasses, showing conclusively that alfalfa is the best forage crop for Kentucky.

One grower of second crop potatoes reports that yield and quality are exceedingly good.

Dairying has suffered greatly from the drouth, but there is an increasing interest being shown in this important feature of agriculture.

Although the poultry interests throughout the whole state are large, yet the demand for poultry and poultry products is so much greater than the supply and the profits to those already engaged in the business are so large, proving that there is not enough attention shown this very important industry.

Because of persons owning orchards not spraying and giving careful attention to the eradication of insects the fruit crop is very short and we advocate the use of the spray, because those who have used it have fruit while their neighbors, who do not spray their trees, do not have any.

This will be the last report of this year and another will not be made until April 1, 1909.

The state is divided into five divisions, which are composed as follows:

First Division—Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle Christian, Crittenden, Daviess, Fulton, Graves, Henderson, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, Lyon, Marshall, McCracken, McLean, Muhlenberg, Todd, Trigg, Union, Webster.

Second Division—Adair, Allen, Barren, Breckinridge, Bullitt, Butler, Cumberland, Edmonson, Grayson, Green, Hancock, Hardin, Hart, Jefferson, Letcher, Madison, Meade, Metcalfe, Monroe, Nelson, Ohio, Simpson, Taylor, Warren, Washington.

Third Division—Anderson, Bath, Boone, Bourbon, Boyle, Bracken, Campbell, Carroll, Clark, Fayette, Fleming, Franklin, Gallatin, Garrard, Grant, Harrison, Henry, Jessamine, Kenton, Lincoln, Madison, Mason, Mercer, Montgomery, Nicholas, Oldham, Owen, Pendleton, Robertson, Shelby, Scott, Spencer, Trimble, Woodford.

Fourth Division—Bell, Casey, Clay, Clinton, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Leslie, Letcher, Owsley, Perry, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Russell, Wayne, Whitley.

all dead. Water is very scarce and stock of all kinds are suffering in consequence. The early sowing of wheat is coming up, but it is feared that it will perish for lack of moisture.

Calloway County—The drouth is still unbroken. Late corn and tobacco are greatly damaged. Fifty per cent of old meadows dead.

Graves County—On account of the long drouth stock water is very scarce; 2,100 hogheads of the 1907 crop of tobacco have been sold, which leaves 3,200 hogheads on hand, none of the 1908 crop has been sold.

Hickman County—The drouth has been one of the worst for years and wheat sowing is late by 30 days. Stock water is getting scarce. More corn is gathered than usual at this time of the year. Stock peas are better than usual.

Marshall County—Weather is still dry. Pastures are burnt up. Fire is raging in some sections of the county and is doing considerable damage to the farmers, burning their fences and corn. Early corn is fine, tobacco light.

PILGRIMS ALL.

Just a little laughter,
Just a little woe,
Just a flash of summertime
Till the roses go,
Just a little handclasp;
That's the toll you pay
If you go a-traveling
The Heart's Highway.

Through the sunny weather,
Under cloudless skies,
Oh, how fair the road is!
Oh, how bright her eyes!
Sure there's not a danger
Could your soul dismay
When you start a-traveling
The Heart's Highway.

Nay, but not forever
Is the sun at noon;
Creeping shadows gather
Far too swift and soon;
Hold her hand the tighter
When the skies grow gray;
Only that brings morning on
The Heart's Highway!

The Misses Scott to Entertain for Guest and Bride-Elect.

Miss Julia Scott and Miss Mary Scott, 725 Madison street, will entertain with an Afternoon Tea on Friday from 3 to 5 o'clock in honor of their house-guest, Miss Eunice De Bard, of McMinnville, Tenn., and of Miss Lillie May Winstead and her bridal party. The invitations will be issued the coming week.

Miss May Owen's Linen Shower for Miss Winstead.

Miss May Owen, 822 Jefferson street, will entertain with a linen shower on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in honor of Miss Lillie May Winstead, whose marriage to Mr. John Swift Montgomery, Jr., of Thomasville, Ga., will take place the following week.

Mrs. Province to Entertain Entree Nons Club for Miss Winstead.

Mrs. Paul Province, 434 South Sixth street, will entertain the Entree Nons club on the afternoon of Monday, November 23, in honor of Miss Lillie May Winstead, whose wedding will take place on the Wednesday following, and of Mrs. Edward Thomas, of Fulton, who will be the guest of Mrs. Province. The invitations will be limited to the club members and the girls of Miss Winstead's bridal party. Miss Winstead was formerly president of the Entree Nons club, as was, also, Mrs. Province, her hostess.

Beautiful Reception.

Mrs. C. C. Covington was the hostess at the handsomest reception of the season given at her home on West Jefferson street, Friday afternoon when she entertained in honor of her two house guests, Misses Louise Cockrell, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Leah Haddock, of Hopkinsville, Ky., and the bride of the month, Miss Lily Mae Winstead.

The entire house was beautifully decorated in yellow chrysanthemums, southern smilax and ferns. In the drawing room where the receiving party stood, the mantel was banked with smilax and held tall vases of yellow chrysanthemums. The doorway and massive columns were hung in smilax. Receiving with Mrs. Covington here were Miss Cockrell, Miss Haddock, Miss Winstead, Miss Mae Owen, Miss Corinne Winstead, Miss Rella Coleman, Mrs. Gus Covington, of Mayfield, Mrs. Paul Province and Mrs. John Brooks.

The refreshment table in the dining room was artistic in every detail. The cover was of Cluny lace and in the center was a tall gold bronze candelabra holding yellow tapers with chrysanthemum shades. At the diagonal corners were tall gold bronze candle sticks. Cut glass napies held yellow mints. Across one side and corner of the table giant yellow chrysanthemums were artistically laid. The yellow color scheme was further carried out in the chrysanthemums scattered on the mantel, curtains and sideboard in profusion. Mrs. Harry Hinkle, Mrs. Robert MacMillan and Miss Margaret Park served delicious refreshments to the many guests. In the coffee room, hung with the same beautiful flowers, Mrs. Victor Voris and Mrs. Henry Rudy poured coffee.

Misses Ethel Brooks and Clara Park served punch from a beautiful

GERMS IN HER SYSTEM

Every Woman Should Read This.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of the catarrhal germs in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to cure Catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh is caused by a germ. That germ is carried by the blood to the innermost part of the system until the mucous membrane is broken, irritation and inflammation produced, and a flow of mucous results, and you can probably realize how silly it is to attempt to cure such an ailment unless you take a medicine that follows the same course as the germ or parasite.

Resall Muc-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made his specialty Catarrh, and with this medicine he averaged 98 per cent of cures where it was employed. No other remedy is so properly designed for the ailments of woman. It will purify and enrich the blood, stop mucous discharge, destroy all germ matter, remove all impurities from the system, soothe, heal and strengthen the mucous tissues, and bring a good feeling of health and strength.

We want to try Resall Muc-Tone on your guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Resall Muc-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c and $1.00. W. B. McPherson, Paducah.

bower of chrysanthemums and smilax in the reception hall.

Mrs. Covington wore a handsome gown of spangled net over pastel green liberty satin trimmed in rose point with a touch of pink velvet. Miss Winstead wore an empire gown of pink messaline satin enriched with pink embroidery and gold lace.

Miss Cockrell was very dainty in a gown of white liberty satin and lace. Miss Haddock was gowned in light blue pompadour crepe de chine embellished with lace.

Mrs. Gus Covington, of Mayfield was very handsome in a pink silk crepe with lace and net trimmings.

Sauerberg-Bray Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Sauerberg, of this city, to Mr. Parker Bray, of Cairo, Ill., will be solemnized on Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the parsonage of the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church. The Rev. Father H. W. Jansen will perform the ceremony. There will be no attendants and only relatives and most intimate friends will be present. The bride will wear a pretty traveling suit of bronze-green. Immediately after the ceremony the couple will leave for St. Louis, Chicago and other points and will be at home at 915 Walnut street, Cairo, after December 1.

Miss Sauerberg is the daughter of Mr. John Sauerberg, 932 South Tenth street, and is an attractive and gracious young woman. Mr. Bray is connected with the Scudder-Gale-Wearen Wholesale Grocery company of Cairo and is a popular young man.

Virginia Wedding of Interest Here.

The wedding of Mr. Richard Winter Walker, formerly of Paducah but more recently of Fontella, Va., to Miss Katherine Taylor, of Coleman's Falls, Va., took place on Tuesday at high noon at the Cove Methodist church, Coleman's Falls. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Pizer. The church was effectively decorated with evergreens. It was a pretty ceremony.

Miss Evelyn Walker, of Dyersburg, Tenn., sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and Mr. Wiley Atkins, of Dyersburg, was the best man. The bridesmaids were: Miss Fan Harris, of Dyersburg, Tenn.; Miss Virginia Taylor, of Virginia; Miss Flora Williams, of Virginia. The groomsmen were: Col. William Brodie, of Blacksburg, Va.; Mr. Guy Davis and Mr. Edgar Watts, both of Coleman's Falls.

The bride was gowned in white Japanese silk over white taffeta. She wore the bridal veil and carried white chrysanthemums. The maids were in white, also, and their flower was white chrysanthemum. The bride entered with her father.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Taylor home after the ceremony and that afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the Misses Walker left over the Southern for Dyersburg, Tenn., stopping at Asheville, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Memphis en route. They arrived in Dyersburg today and will visit the Misses Walker for awhile. Before returning to Virginia they will come to Paducah for a visit. Mr. Walker has a host of friends here and is the senior member of the prominent drug firm R. W. Walker & Co., of Paducah.

New Social Club Organized.

The Guckenhimer club was organized this week for social pleasure during the winter, by a number of the young men. A series of dances will be given on the second and fourth Monday nights. The club officers are Mr. Charles Mercer and Mr. G. T. McKinney.

Miss Foster's Novel Party.

Miss Allie D. Foster entertained her classmates of the B Senior class Friday evening at her home in the Smith flats, on South Fifth street, in a delightful way with a play in five acts. The programs had pen and ink sketches of college girls on the back. The first act was "Music Hath Charms to Soothe the Savage Beast." This was carried out with songs. The second act was:

"Oh had some power the giftie gle us.

To see ourselves as others see us."

This was represented by the guests drawing pictures of each other and writing descriptions.

The third act was "Thereby Hangs a Tale." In this stories were told. The fourth act was "Eat, Drink and Be Merry." At this time refreshments were introduced and the act was carried out in every particular.

The fifth and last act was "As You Like It." Then the guests amused themselves as they pleased.

Another feature of the evening was a gypsy fortune teller, who occu-

Alumnae Association.

The Alumnae association of the Paducah High school met Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Washington school auditorium. The program was an attractive one, under the direction of the literary department of the association. An interesting paper on "Poets of the South" was read by Miss Effie Murray. A delightful reading from Father Ryan's poems was given by Miss Anna Larkin. "Prose Writers in the South" was the subject of a splendid paper by Mrs. E. G. Boone. A reading from southern prose writers was charmingly given by Miss Catherine Thomas.

Missionary Tea.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Grace Episcopal church held its Missionary Tea for November at the parish house Friday afternoon. Mrs.

Sallie Morrow was hostess. Miss Alice Compton told most delightfully of the "Pan-Anglican Conference" which she attended last June in London. Miss Nash reported current events in missionary history. Light refreshments were served.

SOCIAL OCCASIONS.

Mrs. Lucile Robison Ford, 313 North Ninth street, was the hostess of an attractively arranged card party on Wednesday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. James Calhoun Rieke, a recent bride. The color-motif was white and green, the decorations of the house and the delightful course-luncheon prettily emphasizing the effect. The first prize, a bon bon spoon, was won by Mrs. Lillard Sanders. The second prize, a gold hat pin, set with turquoise, was won by Miss Hattie Terrell in a cut with Mrs. Victor Voris and Mrs. Lawrence Dullam.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed D. Hannan, of Fifth and Harrison streets, entertained on Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Thomas Hannan, of Louisville, the mother of Mr. Hannan.

Daily Thought.

Strong and content, I travel the open road.—Walt Whitman.

For what did Mr. Bryan thank Mr. Gompers?

The war clouds that hung low over the Balkans are now looming on the baseball horizon once more.

One good way to prevent another postal deficit would be to make a fair contract for hauling the mail.

There is adequate punishment provided for the man who steals another's money, but none for the man who steals his time.

LET US NOT QUAREL OVER THE SCHOOLS.

No one person or paper has ever been more constantly zealous in behalf of the welfare of the city schools than The Sun has; yet The Sun cannot observe that any one is interfering with efforts to finance the schools. There are no parties to that business, excepting the school board and the bank. The school board hasn't any money, and the bank certainly is acting liberally toward the schools. The bond issue question is passed temporarily and it will not do to indulge in crimination and recrimination just to divide those who differed on the question of issuing bonds, into two hostile camps on all school matters. Factional hostility brought the Paducah schools into their present predicament. It was not the present board; it was not the city administration; it was not the banks that caused the deficit and floating debt; it was an incompetent set of trustees selected and elected for the sole purpose of carrying on a feud, originating in a faction. Discontented organs should be kept out of the school chorus awhile.

A NEW FRIEND OF PROGRESS.

In common with the average thinking being, The Sun has frequently spoken a legislative arm of the government in harmony with the executive; but we are not too narrow to appreciate and admit certain advantages to be gained by a lack of sympathy between the two branches. Party organs that other times preach economy, broaden when the responsibility of partisan watchfulness is slipped from their shoulders and they advocate enterprises that surprise their intimates; champion education and lavish expenditures that make the eye-balls bulge and discuss an increase in tax rates as though they had not made a special plea for their candidate at the last election on the ground that he would reduce the taxes.

We mention this because the Lexington Gazette, one of the narrowest, most bigoted partisan organs in Kentucky, is advocating increased appropriations and an advance in the tax rate in these words:

"Our state taxation is not excessive, and it will not be to the credit of any party to hold down the tax rate if the result is to cripple the state's institutions and to retard the movement for educational advance." The Gazette, ignoring the fact that the four years preceding Williamson's inauguration were distinguished by regular annual deficits of more than $200,000 and that State Treasurer Farley found a depleted treasury, and that the last assembly appropriated $500,000 on top of this deficit without providing any additional revenue, deplores the fact that "the next assembly will probably be confronted with the very serious problem of supplying a deficiency in the public revenue for carrying on the ordinary affairs of the government. At the same time it can not afford to ignore the pressing demand for the enlargement and improvement of various state institutions."

That same serious problem has confronted every session of the general assembly for the last five years and we are delighted to find the Gazette awakening to the need.

Of course, we do not imagine that, if the legislature increases the tax rate, the Gazette will denounce the administration of Governor Willson for it during the next state campaign; for the Gazette says:

"The next legislature will almost certainly be overwhelmingly Democratic. It is certain to have a Democratic majority sufficient to pass legislation over the veto of the governor, so that responsibility for what is done will rest entirely upon the Democratic party."

So be it.

Stories Around the Town.

Two well known young fellows swore off smoking last week and their vow was a solemn one that the nicotine sod was no more their master. Fred vowed he would not even buy a cigar, and Joe made equally as positive statement that he on friendly terms longer. They shook hands and agreed in the next three months, if caught smoking, the smoker would forfeit $5 to the other.

Three days passed, and they met at Fourth street and Broadway. "Say Fred give me a light off your cigar," said Joe talking with a cigarette between his lips. They walked along together for two block and then the resolution dawned upon them. Simultaneously each accused the other of breaking his oath. Joe was game and handed over his last $5 bill, while Fred counted out five $1 bills, and they were even, both having paid the penalty.

Quite a neat little sum is saved the expense account of the city by the work that is done by the firemen at the stations during the hours between alarms. The department is represented by men of all trades, and rarely it is that any job can not be done by a fireman just as well as a regular mechanic, who does not aspire to fight flames. Yesterday Captain Joe Collins and Fireman Fred Mentzer were busy making mops. At the station and the Riverside hospital the mops are worn out in a few weeks, and each new mop will cost about 30 cents apiece. Instead, the handles of the worn out mops are sent to the fire station. Six feet of cotton rope are taken, and in a few minutes the firemen have a new mop. Six feet of cotton rope will cost about 10 cents, and there is a saving of 20 cents every time a mop is worn out.

You may lead an actor before the curtain but you can't keep him from making a few remarks.

Sophy of Kravonia

by ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

Copyright, 1905, Anthony Hope Hawkins

In vain will the readers of this tale of romantic love and brilliant daring search the maps of the world for the picturesque land of Kravonia, wherein lovely, fascinating Sophy and her mysterious Red Star played their parts. This much we may tell him before he embarks on his voyage to Kravonia. But we may assure him that when he reluctantly parts with Sophy, sometime scullery maid of Morpingham, Essex, England, later spiritualistic medium of Paris, France, and still later of high rank in Slavna and Volcent, in Kravonia, the country of her adoption will be to him, like Zenda and Grans-tark, more real than are many of the smaller, actual kingdoms of the earth. Sad and tragic in some of its aspects is the love story of Sophy of Kravonia, but its pathos is so lightened by devoted loyalty, hardy bravery and tender, self sacrificing affection that at the end the reader will surely feel its telling has not been unworthy of the master hand of its famous chronicler.

Chapter One

GROUCH! That is the name, and in the interest of euphony it is impossible not to regret the fact. Some say it should be spelled "Grouch," which would not at all mend matters, though it makes the pronunciation clear beyond doubt—the word must rhyme with "crouch" and "couch." Well might Lady Meg Duddington swear it was the ugliest name she had ever heard in her life! Sophy was not of a very different opinion, as will be shown by and by. She was Grouch on both sides—unmixed and unredeemed—for Enoch Grouch married his uncle's daughter Sally and begat as his first child Sophy. Two other children were born to him, but they died in early infancy. Mrs. Grouch did not long survive the death of her little ones. She was herself laid in Morpingham churchyard when Sophy was no more than five years old. The child was left to the sole care of her father, a man who had married late for his class—indeed, late for any class—and was already well on in middle age. He held a very small farm, lying about half a mile behind the church. Probably he made a hard living of it, for the only servant in his household was a slip of a girl of fifteen, who had presumably both to cook and scrub for him and to look after the infant Sophy. Nothing is remembered of him in Morpingham. Perhaps there was nothing to remember—nothing that marked him off from thousands like him. Perhaps the story of his death, which lives in the village traditions, blotted out the inconspicuous record of his laborious life.

Morpingham lies within twenty-five miles of London, but for all that it is a sequestered and primitive village. It contained, at this time at least, but three houses with pretensions to gentility—the hall, the rectory and a smaller house across the village street, facing the rectory. At the end of the street stood the hall in its grounds. This was a handsome red brick house set in a spacious garden. Along one side of the garden there ran a deep ditch, and on the other side of the ditch, between it and a large meadow, was a path which led to the church. Thus the church stood behind the hall grounds, and, again, as has been said, beyond the church was Enoch Grouch's modest farm, held by Mr. Brownlow, the owner of the hall. The church path was the favorite resort of the villagers, and deservedly, for it was shaded and beautified by a fine double row of old elms, forming a stately avenue to the humble little house of worship.

On an autumn evening in the year 1855 Enoch Grouch was returning from the village, where he had been to buy tobacco. His little girl was with him. It was wild weather. A gale had been blowing for full twenty-four hours, and in the previous night a mighty bough had been snipped from one of the great elms and had fallen with a crash. It lay now right across the path. As they went to the village her father had indulged Sophy with a ride on her bough and she begged a renewal of the treat on their homeward journey. The farmer was a kind man—more kind than wise, as it proved, on this occasion. He set the child astraddle on the thick end of the bough, then went to the other end, which was much slandered. Probably his object was to try to shake the bough and please his small tyrant with the imitation of a reasaw. The fallen bough suggested no danger to his slow moving mind. He leaned down toward the bough, with outstretched hands, Sophy no doubt watching his doings with excited interest, while the wind raged and revelled among the great branches over their heads. Enoch tried to move the bough, but failed. In order to make another effort he fell on his knees and bent his back over it.

At this moment there came a loud crash, heard in the rectory grounds and in the dining room at Woodbine cottage, the small house opposite.

"There's another tree gone!" cried Basil Williamson, the rector's second son, who was giving his retriever an evening run.

He raced through the rectory gate, across the road and into the avenue.

A second later the garden gate of Woodbine cottage opened and Julia, the ten-year-old daughter of a widow named Robins, who lived there, came out at full speed. Seeing Basil just ahead of her, she called out, "Did you hear?"

He knew her voice—they were playmates—and answered without looking back: "Yes, isn't it fun? Keep out side the trees—keep well in the meadow!"

"Stuff!" she shouted, laughing. "They don't fall every minute, silly!"

Running as they exchanged these words, they soon came to where the bough, or rather, the two boughs, had fallen. A tragic sight met their eyes.

The second bough had caught the unlucky farmer just on the nape of his neck and had driven him down, face forward, on to the first. He lay with his neck close pinned between the two and his arms spread out over the undermost. His face was bad to look at. He was quite dead, and apparently death must have been instantaneous.

Sobered and appalled, the boy and girl stood looking from the terrible sight to each other's faces.

"Is he dead?" Julia whispered. "I expect so," the boy answered. Neither had had seen death before.

The next moment he raised his voice and shouted, "Help, help!" then laid hold of the upper bough and strove with all his might to raise it.

The girl gave a shriek of assistance and then lent it hand to his efforts, but between them they could not move the great log.

Up to now neither of them had perceived Sophy.

Next on the scene was Mr. Brownlow, the master of the hall. He had been in his greenhouse and heard the crash of the bough. Of that he took no heed. Nothing could be done save have a sign over the damage to his cherished elms.

But when the cries for help reached his ears, with praiseworthy promptitude he rushed out straight across his lawn, and though he was elderly and stout, dropped into the ditch, clambered out of it and came where the dead man and the children were. As he passed the drawing room windows he called out to his wife, "Somebody's hurt, I'm afraid!" and she, after a moment's conference with the butler, followed her husband; but, not being able to manage the ditch, went around by the road and up the avenue, the servant coming with her. When these two arrived the squires' help had availed to release the farmer from the deadly grip of the two boughs, and he lay now on his back on the path.

"He's dead, poor fellow," said Mr. Brownlow.

"It's Enoch Grouch!" said the butler, giving a shudder as he looked at the farmer's face. Julia Robins sobbed, and the boy Basil looked up at the squire's face with grave eyes.

"I'll get a hurdle, sir," said the butler. His master nodded, and he ran off.

Something moved on the path about a yard from the thick end of the lower bough.

"Look there!" cried Julia Robins. A little wall followed. With an exclamation Mrs. Brownlow darted to the spot. The child lay there with a cut on her forehead. Apparently the impact of the second bough had caused the end of the first to fly upward. Sophy had been jerked from her seat into the air and had fallen back on the path, striking her head on a stone. Mrs. Brownlow picked her up, wiped the blood from her brow and saw that the injury was slight. Sophy began to cry softly, and Mrs. Brownlow soothed her.

"It's his little girl," said Julia Robins. "The little girl with the mark on her cheek, please, Mrs. Brownlow."

"Poor little thing! Poor little thing!" Mrs. Brownlow murmured. She knew that death had robbed the child of her only relative and protector.

The butler now came back with a hurdle and two men, and Enoch Grouch's body was taken into the saddle room at the hall. Mrs. Brownlow followed the procession, Sophy still in her arms. At the end of the avenue she spoke to the boy and girl:

"Go home, Basil. Tell your father, and ask him to come to the hall. Good night, Julia. Tell your mother, and don't cry any more. The poor man is with God, and I shan't let this misfortune come to harm." She was a childless woman, with a motherly heart, and as she spoke she kissed Sophy's wounded forehead. Then she went into the hall grounds, and the boy and girl were left together on the road. Basil shook his fist at the avenue of elms, his favorite playground.

"Hail those beastly trees!" he cried. "I'd cut them all down if I was Mr. Brownlow."

"I must go and tell mother," said Julia, "and you'd better go too."

"Yes," he assented, but lingered for a moment, still looking at the trees as though reluctantly fascinated by them.

"Mother always said something would happen to that little girl," said Julia, with a grave and important look in her eyes.

"Why?" the boy asked brusquely. "Because of that mark—that mark she's got on her cheek?"

"What rot!" he said, but he looked at his companion uneasily. The event of the evening had stirred the superstitious fears, seldom hard to stir in children.

"People don't have those marks for nothing—so mother says." Other people, no wiser, said the same thing later. "Rot!" Basil muttered again. "Oh, well, I must go."

She glanced at him timidly. "Just come as far as our door with me, I'm afraid."

"Afraid!" he said scornfully. "All right!"

He walked with her to the door of Woodbine cottage and waited till it closed behind her, performing the escort with a bold and lordly air. Left alone in the fast darkening night, with nobody in sight, with no sound save the ceaseless noise of the angry wind eddying now and then in the tops of the elm trees, he stood for a moment, listening fearfully. Then he laid his sturdy legs to the ground and fled for home, looking neither to right nor left till he reached the hospitable light of his father's study. The lad had been brave in face of the visible horror. Fear struck him in the moment of Julia's talk about the mark on the child's cheek. Scornful and furious at himself, yet he was mysteriously afraid.

Among the items is found coal with a value of $55,000,000, this figure giving it the second rank among coal producing states. The value of its clay for the year is indicated to be $12,000,000.

In 1906 the state yielded oil valued at $3,000,000. In 1907 the value of this product was $16,000,000. Within three years Illinois has jumped from practical nonproduction of oil to third place.

These statements have importance because they show how a region long noted for its agricultural resources is winning a position in an entirely different field.

They also have their interest in connection with the development of the domain of economic geology. The science has taken its place among the effective agencies of modern industry.

Dana's "Manual of Geology" was published in third edition under the author's date, March 1, 1874. It contains over 900 pages. Its table of contents, in something of syllabus form, outline the science as then studied.

The author tells of physiographic geology, describing in a general survey the features of the earth's surface. In lithological geology the rock materials are studied.

Historical geology makes the third division, with subheads treating stratigraphical and paleontological geology. The fourth part is devoted to dynamical geology, dealing of agencies producing the changes and the laws and methods of their action.

Economic geology finds no place in the apparently exhaustive study. Its development in comparatively recent years has been astonishing. This figures given in connection with Illinois tells of its great importance.

The old fashioned notion of the geologist as a dreamy fossil with his hammer has disappeared. In his stead one finds the active, intelligent, forceful agent of modern industry.

He studies soils, building products, mineral fuels, metallic products. He investigates precious stones, abrasive materials, gypsum, salt, fertilizers. His range of activity is steadily broadening.

It is this phase of geological work that is making the publications of the national and state geological surveys more and more interesting reading as the years go by.

It is an excellent illustration also of the manner in which the trained student is enabled to use his acquisitions in the classroom as an asset having money value to him.

The emphasis laid upon economic geology in this connection, of course, does not detract in the least from the importance of the other divisions of the science.

They are fundamental. The economic geologist must know thoroughly what is to be known in the other lines. Without such an equipment he would prove sadly defective.

But the connection of the science of geology with the productive industries which are bringing so much wealth to individual states and to Bank Exchanges for Week.

New York, Nov. 14.—Dun's Review says:

Bank clearings show a marked increase in the volume of payments through the banks, not only in New York City, where the increase is heavy, in large measure due to the very active stock market trading, but at a number of leading cities, and at most cities where losses still appear they are materially reduced. Total bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States are $3,278,277,985, an increase of 7.3 per cent, compared with the corresponding week of 1906. The large gains over a year ago are unimportant, because of the disturbed conditions prevailing then, and they serve only to show how severe those conditions were. Philadelphia, Cleveland, New Orleans and San Francisco still report considerable decrease, compared with 1906, but at New York, Boston and most cities in the west there are gains.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

TO BE UNDERTAKEN BY DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY.

Veteran Who Gave His Cross of Honor to a Federal Soldier Denounced By Convention.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—Education was the keynote of the sessions of the fifteenth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Inspired by a message from Mrs. Godlett, of Nashville, founder of the U. D. C., urging the necessity of wiping out illiteracy in the south, members of the convention acclaimed in brief but earnest addresses, that no more patriotic work could be done by the Daughters of the Confederacy than to use their every energy for the educational advancement of the descendants of those soldiers whose noble deeds the organization seeks to commemorate.

Miss Alice Baxter, president of the Georgia division of the U. D. C., proudly announced that Georgia had taken the initiative in the work of education, referring to the Winnie Davis dormitory at the State Normal school, Athens, Ga., which was erected by the Georgia daughters. She also directed attention to the fact that the Georgia division is now building a dormitory at the Rabun Gap Industrial school, Rabun Gap, Ga., as a fitting memorial to Gen. Francis Bartow.

A resolution was introduced by Mrs. John King Ottley, of Atlanta, providing for the creation of an educational committee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which shall render a report annually covering all educational work being done by the several state divisions. She believed that this would stimulate further effort on the part of the different divisions toward placing educational advantages within the reach of every descendant of a Confederate.

The fact was brought to the attention of the convention that a Confederate soldier had given his cross of honor to a federal general and this precipitated considerable discussion, the veteran being severely criticized. The chairman of the delegation representing the division which gave the cross to the Confederate veteran expressed deep regret over the incident. She declared "that the veteran who so desecrated his badge of honor as to give it over to the enemy" was eligible as a recipient at the time it was bestowed upon him. Efforts will be made to recover the cross from the federal officer.

An hour was devoted to memorial exercises and a reception was tendered the delegates in the evening.

BOTH CONFIDENT

CUBAN ELECTIONS PROMISE TO BE VERY CLOSE.

Liberals Appear to Have Slightly Best Chance to Win the Presidency.

Havana, Nov. 14.—At the close of the presidential campaign, which ended last night with a great conservative demonstration in Havana, the Conservative and Liberal leaders express themselves with the utmost confidence as to the result. The election probably will be very close, but indications are rather favorable to the success of the Liberals. Much, however, depends upon the bringing out of the vote, which was not cast in the elections in August, when only 269,132 ballots were deposited, as compared with a registration of 451,677.

The Conservatives claim a greater portion of this silent vote of 182,000, alleging that their partisans were deterred by intimidation from going to the polls. While the Conservatives carried some of the provinces in the last elections by pluralities, they had at no place a clear majority over the combined vote of the Mignuelistas and Zayistas, running behind by a total vote of about 50,000.

A careful canvass made by the Havana Post gives the Liberals Pinar Del Rio, Havana and Oriente provinces, which would mean a total of sixty-two electoral votes, eight in excess of the number necessary for a choice. Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces are doubtful, while Matanzas is Conservative.

The Liberals claim all the provinces, while the Conservatives concede to them Havana, but claim Pinar Del Rio, Santa Clara, Camaguey and Oriente. There is little betting, but the odds slightly favor the Liberals.

ADVERTISED LANDS TO BE SOLD MONDAY

State Revenue Agent's Office
Open Tonight Till 9 O'clock.

For Convenience of Delinquents Mr.
Husbands Will Remain in His Office, 129½ South Fourth.

SEE THE LIST IN TODAY'S PAPER

Today publication is made for the last time of the state delinquent list and Monday State Revenue Agent's Husbands will make the sale of all unredeemed property, as directed by law.

It is said by those who are in position to know that the number of delinquents paying up this time is greater than ever before and Revenue Agent Husbands is inclined to believe this true, judging from the amount of business he has done in the past thirty days.

It is the intention of the state authorities to clear the books absolutely of all back tax claims and it will therefore be well for those interested in property upon which state taxes are due to pay up before Mr. Husbands' office closes this evening at 9 o'clock, for the law provides that all such lands shall be sold to the highest and best bidder and passes absolute title to the purchaser; no provision is made for redemption after sale.

Mr. Husbands' office is at 129½ South Fourth street, upstairs, and his phone number is 789 old. He will be glad to give any information desired.

In Bankruptcy.

In the bankruptcy case of W. P. Hildreth, of Kuttawa, Referee Bagby issued orders for the sale of 141 acres of land belonging to Hildreth in Lyon county, subject to the dower right of his mother in fifty acres, to be sold December 14, in Eddyville.

Trustee Cecil Reed for William E. Arnold, a bankrupt, was ordered to sell property of the bankrupt at 11 o'clock December 14.

A motion was filed in bankruptcy, asking that B. Holly be required to account for sales of property belonging to his brother, S. Holly, whose estate is in bankruptcy. Referee Bagby issued an order directing him to show why he should not turn over the money secured from the sale.

In the case of Duncan & Hayden, merchants of Kuttawa a petition of the trustees representing that certain creditors and others had preference.

Challenge From W. B. McPherson. W. B. McPherson is seeking the worst case of dyspepsia or constipation in Paducah or vicinity to test Dr. Howard's new specific for the cure of those diseases.

So confident is he that this remarkable medicine will effect a lasting cure in a short time, that by offers to refund the money should it not be successful.

In order to secure the quickest possible introduction W. B. McPherson will sell a regular fifty cent package of this medicine at half price, 25 cents.

This specific of Dr. Howard's will cure sick headache, dizzy feelings, constipation, dyspepsia and all forms of malaria and liver trouble. It does not simply give relief for a time; it makes permanent and complete cures.

It will regulate the bowels, tone up the whole intestinal tract, give you an appetite, make food taste good and digest well, and increase vigor.

was filed. The petition was left open by the court until another day.

The trustee of the estate of Duncan & Hayden filed a petition asking that Referee Bagby order a sale of the estate. Judge Bagby ordered a notice posted, and if no objection to the sale is filed by November 27 for the trustee to sell the property on November 28.

John Rock, trustee of the Paducah Furniture company, filed a petition in bankruptcy court, asking that he be allowed to compromise a claim with Dill's, Bennett & company, of Louisville, which is in liquidation. The notice of the petition was given the creditors for a meeting on November 25.

It's only a matter of time until a white lie takes on a sombre hue.

THREE-YEAR-OLD CHILD SUC-
CUMBS TO DIPHTHERIA.

Former Paducah Woman Dies at Evansville—Mrs. Olive Etter.

Anthony Peeples, three years old, died this morning at 4 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peeples, 723 Goebel avenue, after a three days' illness of diphtheria. The burial will be tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Oak Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Olive Etter.

Mrs. Olive Etter, 48 years old, died last evening at 6:45 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Louis Frant, 916 South Third street, after a several months' illness of paralysis.

Mr. Etter was the wife of Mr. Edward Etter, of Tier. Mrs. Etter was born in Carroll county and had lived in Paducah for 30 years. She was married 27 years ago to Mr. Etter, who for many years served on the Paducah fire department. Mrs. Etter was a member of the Third Street Methodist church and was a popular lady of the south side. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frant. The services were held by the Rev. H. B. Terry, pastor of the Third Street Methodist church. The burial was at the Oak Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shanklin.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shanklin died November 10 at her daughter's residence, Evansville Ind.

She moved with her daughter from Paducah May 19, to Evansville, she was the widow of the late Robert H. Shanklin, well known resident of Paducah. She was sick three weeks. The funeral was held at the Grace Presbyterian church. She leaves two children: Mrs. J. L. Gollightly, of 202 Mulberry street, Evansville, Ind., and Mr. George Shanklin, 108 Upper Water street, Evansville, Ind., and two step-daughters: Mrs. W. S. Melbo, and Mrs. W. A. Beadles, of Mayfield, Ky. She was placed in a vault at Oak Hill cemetery.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to Cairo will continue falling during the next 36 hours.

MRS. BOULWARE

DIES AT HOPKINSVILLE OF LONG ILLNESS.

Relatives in This City Have Been at Her Bedside All the Week—The Funeral.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Flora Ritter Boulware, widow of the late R. L. Boulware and beloved Christian woman, died at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Her life had been hanging on by a thread for several days, and the devoted members of her family had been summoned and were at her bedside when the end came.

The deceased had been in failing health for several months, in fact since the death of her husband nearly a year ago. She was about 65 years of age, and a daughter of the late Congressman Burrell C. Ritter, a prominent Kentucky statesman, and a sister of the late Hon. John C. Ritter, a brilliant attorney of the Hopkinsville bar.

She was a consecrated Christian and a life-long member of the Church of Christ.

She is survived by four sons and one daughter. They are Messrs. Logan and Phillip, of Paducah; Ben and Alex Boulware and Miss Edith Boulware.

The funeral service was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Christian church by the Rev. H. D. Smith and the burial was in the Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Logan Boulware, 1916 Clay street, and Mr. Phillip Boulware, 420 Washington street, her two sons residing in Paducah, have been at her bedside since Monday.

but for the ones that are situated like myself. By God, I would not have brought my four children into the world to bear such a brand as to have known the fact that I was an x-convict. Heney ruined me that is the reason I shot him."

Heney had finished the cross-examination at noon of James Gallagher, the prosecution's most important witness in all the bribery graft cases and the self-confessed "go-between" of Ruef and the former board of supervisors.

Henry Ach, chief counsel for Ruef, subjected Gallagher to a severe cross-examination for two hours in the afternoon when Judge Lawler declared a brief recess at 4:05. Heney remained in the court room, and was leaning over on his table conversing with Al McCabe, chief clerk in the district attorney's office. Directly in front of him was James L. Gallagher, he witness. A representative of the

And they're PRINTESS Garments, too.

Remember, we make all alterations free of charge, in our own alteration department.

Associated Press had just walked to Heney's table and was standing at his left elbow waiting to speak to him when a small man, neatly attired, approached from behind with quick steps but with deliberation. Suddenly his right hand shot out and before the newspaper man, McCabe or John Foley, Heney's special body guard, sitting about eight feet away, could make a move, there was a flash and a loud report rang through the court room.

Panic Follows Shooting.

For a moment everybody seemed stunned and paralyzed. The would-be assassin whose revolver was within a foot and a half of Heney's head when he pulled the trigger, stepping back, his arms by his side, one hand still clutching the smoking pistol as if he hesitated what to do. For a fraction of a second an impressive silence followed the report and a panic followed. Half of the people evidently fearing further shooting made a frantic rush for the doors. Before Haas could raise his pistol again, Foley and E. J. Wiskotchil, special policeman, were upon him, threw him to the floor and wrested the weapon from him. He struggled hard, but was dragged to the jury box, thrown on his back and held there, just as the jury, attracted by the shot, came bursting through their private entrance.

Heney arose out of his chair, put his hands to his head, the blood reddening the table in front of him, leaned over a moment, and was caught as he began to fall. He was laid on the floor, Charles Oliver and John Foley, two special detectives connected with the district attorney's office, holding his head up of the pool of blood which flowed from a hole which appeared to be just below the right temple. He was conscious and when the Associated Press representative stooped down by his side and spoke to him, his first words were: "Send for my wife."

Thought Wound Fatal.

Dr. H. A. Fincke, who was in the court room at the time, rushed to Heney's side, made a hasty examination and pronounced him fatally wounded.

Heney was perfectly composed. He believed he was fatally hurt, and expressed a desire to make a dying statement. He said: "I was sitting at my table when I felt what I thought was a blow. I do not know who shot me. I was not doing anything to anybody."

Ruef and his attorneys who were out on the sidewalk, were startled by the report and started for the court room, but were forced down the steps by the crowd, rushing frantically out, and the police refused to admit them. When told what had happened Ruef demanded to know he did it, and immediately ordered his chauffeur to get the nearest physician.

The car returned in a few minutes with a physician. Heney was later taken in an ambulance to the emergency hospital, whence he was removed to the Lane hospital.

Large Crowd Gathered.

The report of the attempted assassination spread throughout the city like wildfire and caused intense excitement and indignation. An immense crowd gathered around the court house. There was no hostile demonstration in the big crowd, but some threatening rumors began to be heard. Ruef was surrounded by a large number of people and quietly slipped away. This led to the report that he had disappeared, but he soon after appeared in the court room and to safeguard his personal safety was taken into custody.

In the second Ruef trial Haas had been passed as a juror when one day in court Heney dramatically produced a photograph of him taken at San Quentin penitentiary in a convict's garb and cropped head, and with his number across his breast. Haas collapsed in court, admitted he had been a convict and was immediately discharged from the jury.

NOTICE—Auction Sale of Unredeemed Lands for Taxes by Revenue Agent.

Issued under instructions of the Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Kentucky, I will on the 10th day of November, 1908, at the Court House door in McCracken County, Kentucky, sell for cash, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, all of the following lands and town lots, situated in McCracken County, Kentucky. This sale is of property which was sold by the Sheriff of McCracken County for taxes, which land remains unredeemed by the owners, and upon which the right of redemption has expired.

This sale will be final, and absolute title to the lands will be passed by the State of Kentucky to purchaser at this sale, and all right of redemption or recovery by original owners will be forever barred by this sale.

Sale will commence at 9 o'clock a. m., on above date, and if necessary will be continued from day to day until all the property is disposed of, or bids rejected.

Any of the following property, which for any cause may remain unsold after having been exposed for sale as above, may be bought privately at any time after day of sale. Parties desiring to buy privately may effect purchase with me at my office, 127 S. 4th Street, Paducah, Kentucky, at any time after date of above auction sale.

WM. M. HUSBANDS, Revenue Agent.

PEONAGE

PRACTICED IN FLORIDA, SAYS
INDICTMENT.Men Induced By False Promises Find Themselves Actual Slaves to Employers.

New York, Nov. 13.—What was asserted to be the practical marooning of 3,000 men in the wild regions of Florida and their detention there under hard labor for a period of several months was dealt with at length today before Judge Hough and a jury in the United States circuit court, in the course of the trial of the government's case against employers and agents of the Florida East Coast Railway company for alleged violation of the statute prohibiting "peonage, slavery and enforced servitude."

The men under indictment are Francisco Sabba, Edward J. Triay, David E. Harley and Frank A. Hough.

After a jury had been selected, Deputy Attorney General Glenn E. Usted outlined the prosecution's case, contending that the treatment accorded the workmen supplied to the Florida East Coast company by the defendants was nothing short of slavery. The government would show, he declared, that in 1905 the men had been induced by alluring advertisements to apply for employment in the south.

Everything went well, the attorney said, until the men reached Jersey City, where they were put aboard a train, the doors being locked on them and armed guards set over them to prevent their escape. Throughout the long journey they were given nothing but stale bread and bologna sausage, and when they reached the end of their journey many rebelled and refused to leave the train, but a hose was turned on them, and in this manner the entire consignment of human freight had been driven aboard a waiting steamer.

When the ultimate destination was reached, said Mr. Usted, the men found that the paradise that had been promised them was a barren wilderness, overrun with reptiles and venomous snakes, where no place to sleep had been provided for them. Their "high wages," the prosecutor declared, were slips of paper exchangeable at the company's store for shoes and clothing and food. The escape that many sought was impossible, as the region was entirely cut off from all means of communication with the outside world.

Thinking to be discharged, some refused to work. These, Mr. Usted said, were threatened with death and brutally beaten. Finally some were able to smuggle letters through to relatives, and in this manner the government had been apprised of the conditions existing.

John B. Stanchfield, attorney for the Florida East Coast company, and personal counsel for Henry M. Flagler, the company's president and principal stockholder, moved that the indictments charging peonage and slavery be dismissed, as the one charge destroyed the other. Judge Hough was inclined to hold that the charge of peonage could not rest, but declared that he would rule in the matter on any point brought out during the presentation of the evidence.

THE NEW POSTAGE STAMPS.

The bureau of engraving and printing has completed designs suggested by Postmaster General Meyer for a new issue of United States postage stamps. The new stamps will be of the following denominations. One cent, two cents, three cents, four cents, five cents, six cents, eight cents, ten cents, fifteen cents, fifty cents and $1. The $2 and $5 denominations now in use will not be reprinted. It will be some weeks before all the denominations will be put on the market.

The two-cent stamp will be the first distributed, and it is expected that shipments to postmasters will begin some time in November. The new issue has been designed with the object of obtaining the greatest simplicity commensurate with artistic results. The profile has been taken in each instance instead of a full view, giving a bas-relief effect. All the stamps are of a similar design, containing a head in an ellipse, the only decoration being laurel leaves on either side of the ellipse. The lettering is in straight lines, at the top being "U. S. Postage" and at the bottom the words "Two cents."

The one-cent stamp contains the head of Franklin, while all the others will bear that of Washington, taken from busts by Moudon. The most notable difference in the new issue will be the minimum of lettering. The colors are the reds and blues of the early stamps. Director Ralph, of the bureau of engraving and printing, regards the new stamps as the most artistic ever issued by the government.—Washington Cor. New York Sun.

A New Declaration.

"Ah ha!" said the lover, His attitude fine.
"The lips that kiss Flido Shall never kiss mine!"
—Birmingham Age-Herald.
"Ah, ha!" said the maiden With giggles of glee,
"The lips that kiss liquor Shall never kiss me."
—Florida Times-Union.
"Ah, ha!" said the microbe, With snicker and snuffle,
"Just wait till none's looking! Such talk is all piffle."
